GULAYMALDHAANY

" The Net Makers"

Traditional net making was a vital activity in Aboriginal society which played an essential role in the food gathering task. All adult community members were capable of making nets and all were at times "gulaymalधाany", as well as being craftspeople and teachers of their skills. While some were more skilled than others the gathering of food was an activity which benefited the entire community. It did not matter if one net seemed better than another, the important thing was that each net worked. In the same way, contemporary transport providers are essential to the welfare and well-being of today's Aboriginal community, and while some services may be more highly regarded than others, the important thing is the actual provision of transport when it is needed.

ACCOMMODATION

Delegates are required to organise their own accommodation by contacting the Dubbo Visitors Centre. Further information will be provided upon receipt of registration.

To make an accommodation booking, please complete the attached conference accommodation booking form and send it off to the Dubbo Visitors Centre. All bookings need to be accompanied with a deposit. IMPORTANT

Please note that for conference registration, priority preference will be given to organisations providing transport for Aboriginal people. NSW Health has provided limited funding to assist groups with travel and accommodation.

This funding is only available to the first 70 organisations who meet the eligibility criteria which is

- Located outside 100km radius of Dubbo,
- Receive funding under $150,000.00

The funding will be allocated as a subsidy payment of $100 per organisation, and will be payable to the organisation after the conference. Receipt of expenditure needs to be sent to CTO to claim the subsidy.

If you wish to apply for this subsidy, please ensure you tick the subsidy requested box on the registration form and provide a brief note on the reasons why your organisation should be considered eligible for the subsidy.

FREE SHUTTLE TRANSPORT

Shuttle Transport is available between the conference and selected hotels. Please indicate on the registration form if the Shuttle Transport Service is required.

A time table for the shuttle service will be provided upon registration.
